

Hebrew

A Guide to the New K–10 Syllabus

The new Hebrew K–10 Syllabus will replace the current syllabus and will be implemented in 2005 with Year 7 and Year 9 students. Schools that wish to offer the 100-hour mandatory requirement of the School Certificate with students in Year 8 in 2005 must implement the syllabus with these students in 2005.

The new syllabus is informed by contemporary research about how people learn and about how learning outcomes can be enhanced by teaching practice.

The syllabus promotes assessment for learning as an essential component of good teaching. It follows the broad directions established in the NSW Board of Studies K–10 Curriculum Framework and is part of a continuum of learning from Kindergarten to Year 12 that supports sustained, sequential, high quality learning.

What is similar?

Much of the content is similar to the current syllabus content. Students will continue to:

- experience Hebrew in a range of contexts through the integration of listening, reading, speaking and writing skills
- experience, enjoy and respond to features of the culture of Hebrew-speaking communities
- gain knowledge of, and develop skills in, the application of grammatical structures
- develop an appreciation of ancient culture and its relevance to modern Jewish cultural and religious values through the study of Biblical texts.

Current programs can be modified to meet the requirements of the new syllabus and many existing units of work will form the bases of effective programs. The majority of existing resources will continue to be relevant.

The recent experience teachers have gained in implementing the Modern Hebrew Continuers Stage 6 Syllabus (1999), the Classical Hebrew Continuers Stage 6 Syllabus (1999) and the Classical Hebrew Extension Stage 6 Syllabus (1999) will assist in the implementation of the new Hebrew K–10 Syllabus.

What is different?

The new syllabus builds on the current syllabus in directions identified through research into the teaching of Hebrew in other systems nationally and internationally, and through consultation at forums, meetings and during wide circulation of the draft syllabus. Differences include:

- outcomes that provide specific extensive statements of the knowledge, understanding, skills, values and attitudes that each student is expected to achieve as a result of effective teaching and learning
- explicit outcomes that focus on the connections between Hebrew and English, and intercultural understanding and relationships
- a glossary that addresses new aspects of the syllabus and provides definitions of current terminology in languages study
- extension outcomes and content to help teachers address the needs and interests of students who have progressed beyond the Stage 5 essential content
- outcomes and stage statements from Stage 1 (including Early Stage 1) to Stage 5 that describe the continuum of learning in Hebrew. This enables teachers to map students' learning development, and to plan and program work according to students' needs and abilities

The features of the content pages

Hebrew K–10 Syllabus

7.5 Content for Stage 4

Stage 4 – Using Language

Listening and Responding

Outcome 4.U1.1: A student demonstrates understanding of the main ideas and supporting detail in spoken texts and responds appropriately.

Students learn about: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> the importance of prior knowledge to interpreting meaning in text the importance of understanding the intention of the speaker and the context in interpreting meaning ways to analyse text structure and locate relevant information in text linguistic features of texts such as conversations, interviews and messages. 	Students learn to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> deduce meaning from context and prior knowledge of subject matter when listening for main ideas identify roles of and relationships between participants in text, eg בוקר טוב מורה identify the purpose of texts and distinguish between the main ideas and supporting detail identify specific information, eg by identifying statements as true or false, answering questions in English or Hebrew, choosing the correct word.
---	--

Additional content for Classical Hebrew

Students learn about: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> the importance of understanding the intention of a narrated Classical text and the context in interpreting meaning. 	Students learn to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> identify the purpose and distinguish between the main ideas and supporting detail in classical texts.
---	--

Reading and Responding

Outcome 4.U1.2: A student demonstrates understanding of the main ideas and supporting detail in written texts and responds appropriately.

Students learn about: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> the structures and features of specific text types in order to interpret key features of the text, such as heading, introduction, visual supports the importance of prior knowledge to interpreting meaning in text the importance of understanding the intention of the author and the context in interpreting meaning ways to analyse text structure and locate relevant information in text linguistic features of texts, such as descriptions, narratives and correspondence. 	Students learn to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> skim and scan text to predict meaning deduce meaning from context and prior knowledge of the subject matter when reading for gist identify roles and relationships between participants in text identify the purpose in texts and distinguish between the main ideas and supporting detail identify specific information, eg by identifying statements as true or false, answering questions in English or Hebrew, choosing the correct word.
---	--

Additional content for Classical Hebrew

Students learn about: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> the rules of correct pronunciation the importance of correct phrasing to convey meaning. 	Students learn to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> read aloud selected verses from classical text with correct pronunciation convey the meaning of sentences through correct vocalisation and cantillation markings.
---	---

Objectives, outcomes and content are linked in tables to assist teachers with planning and programming.

Content is expressed as Students learn to and Students learn about in a consistent format.

Language-specific examples are provided to clarify content where appropriate.

Cross-curriculum content is embedded in the syllabus content.

Additional content for Classical Hebrew focusing on the study of written and narrated classical texts.

- an overview statement that shows how each cross-curriculum area is embedded in the essential content
- content relating to the use and understanding of information and communication technologies (ICT) incorporated in the syllabus content
- Life Skills outcomes and content for those students with special education needs, particularly those students with an intellectual disability, for whom it has been determined that the outcomes and content found in sections 6 and 7 of the syllabus are not appropriate
- the concept that assessment for learning is integral to teaching and learning in a standards-referenced framework and is incorporated in the syllabus. Assessment for learning involves teachers planning how and when they will gather evidence of learning at the same time as they plan the work that students will do. It recognises the importance of assessment to student motivation and self-esteem, and promotes the active involvement of students in their own learning.

How can the syllabus be used to program?

The syllabus outcomes provide the focus for teaching and learning in Hebrew. This syllabus encourages a model of programming that begins with outcomes, and is precise about what is being taught and what is being learnt. Developing integrated programs from the new Hebrew K–10 Syllabus involves:

- identifying the outcomes to be addressed (see syllabus pp 15–18)
- identifying the required evidence of learning
- planning explicit teaching and learning experiences to address the outcomes (see syllabus pp 25–50) to allow students to demonstrate evidence of learning
- identifying strategies to teach the content

- incorporating assessment for learning by using the assessment advice in the syllabus and in the support material that will be provided by the Board of Studies.

The advice about additional content on page 19, and Extension outcomes and content on page 20 of the syllabus will assist teachers to develop programs for students who are demonstrating Stage 5 outcomes prior to the completion of Year 10.

The inclusion of outcomes and stage statements that describe a continuum of learning from Stage 1 (including Early Stage 1) to Stage 5 will assist teachers to program for students in K–10 who have not yet demonstrated Stage 3 outcomes.

How does the syllabus cater for all students?

A key principle of the K–10 Curriculum Framework, which guides K–10 syllabus development, is that the curriculum must be inclusive of all students in New South Wales.

The rationale, aim, objectives, outcomes and content of the syllabus have been designed to accommodate teaching approaches that support the learning needs of all students.

Students with special education needs will participate fully in learning experiences and assessment activities. These students may require additional support in terms of modified tasks and varied learning approaches. There may also be occasions when different strategies need to be adopted to broaden and deepen the learning experiences of gifted and talented students.

Life Skills outcomes and content, using the rationale, aim and objectives of this syllabus, have been included in section 8. They will provide the basis for a program of study for the small percentage of students with special education needs for whom the outcomes and content in sections 6 and 7 of the Hebrew K–10 Syllabus are not appropriate.

What support is the Board providing to assist with initial implementation of the syllabus?

Following the release of the syllabus, support materials will be distributed to assist teachers in understanding the syllabus and its associated assessment requirements.

The first School Certificate credential based on the new syllabuses will be awarded in 2006. Specific advice about requirements for the School Certificate will be provided well in advance of 2006.

distributed with the syllabus	Phase 1 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ this guide to the new Hebrew K–10 Syllabus ■ draft Descriptions of Levels of Achievement
3 months after distribution of the syllabus	Phase 2 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ advice on programming ■ sample units of work ■ sample assessment activities
6 months after distribution of the syllabus	Phase 3 (incorporates Phases 1 and 2) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ annotated samples of student work
12 months after implementation of the syllabus	Phase 4 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ final Descriptions of Levels of Achievement

The Department of Education and Training, the Catholic Education Commission, other school systems, the Association of Independent Schools and professional associations will assist and support the ongoing implementation of the syllabus.
